

Four announcements from Swedish-Scandinavian Culture Center, Swedish House, Cairo, Egypt

Description and environment

Swedish House is a five story building in Shoubra al-Khema in Cairo. It is a meeting place for different cultures and has great possibilities to help children and youth in the most needing environment. It is ten minutes walk to Metro and 15 minutes by Metro to Tharir-Square.

The house consists of the following.

- The first floor will function as an internet cafe for young Egyptians and young people from other countries, mainly the foreign students living in the house.
- The second floor functions today as a day-care center for Muslim and Christian children between 3-6 years old. We have four employees, both Muslim and Christian, caring for approx 50 children. It is the one of very few day-care centers in Cairo that is non-religious and mix children and employees from both religions.
- The third floor has six class rooms.
- The fourth and fifth floors contain two apartments with three bedrooms each. One bedroom is for the manager and the rest, five bedrooms, will be for five foreign students for the three month courses in Arabic.
- Terrace on the roof.

We announce;
